CALL FOR PAPER

Blockchain technology has infiltrated all areas of our lives, from manufacturing to healthcare and beyond, such as the Internet of Things (IoT), Agriculture, Government, Manufacturing, Travel and Transportation, Supply-Chain, etc. Blockchain Technology is defined as a decentralized system of distributed registers that are used to record data transactions on multiple computers. The reason this technology has gained popularity is that you can put any digital asset or transaction in the blocking chain, the industry does not matter. Blockchain technology can be used to prevent any data breach, identity theft, cyber-attacks or criminal acts in transactions.
